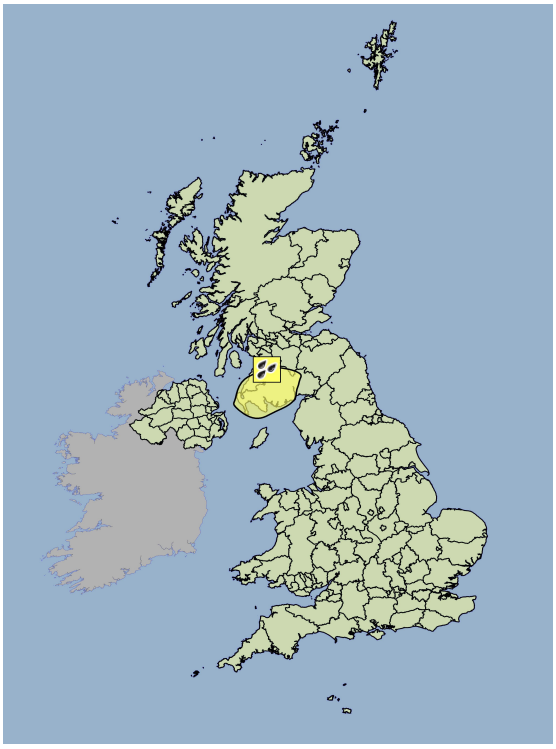
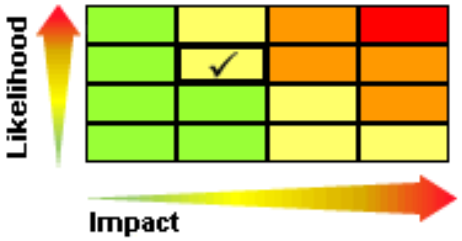
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
After a drier interlude later on Monday, a waving frontal zone will push back northwards to bring further rain to southwest Scotland early on Tuesday, eventually clearing again during the evening. Given recent wet conditions, there is a further risk of minor flooding from rivers or surface water.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Alert of Rain

Valid from 00:10 on Tue, 23rd Dec 2014 until 18:00 on Tue, 23rd Dec 2014

Persistent rain is likely to return southwestern Scotland for much of Tuesday.
With this rain falling onto already saturated ground, the public should be aware of the risk of disruption due to localised flooding.
